Did you know?
A Mandala is designed to offer a visual balance of elements that symbolize harmony and unity. Go outside and listen to the sounds of nature and make a mandala using dandelion heads where the seeds blow off.

What you need:
- Pencil
- Paper
- Paint
- Dandelion head

Steps:
1. Trace a circle on a piece of paper.
2. Draw lines on circle 1/2 and 1/4 then 1/8 like a pizza.
3. Find a dandelion with all the white floaties (seeds) are gone.
4. Dab the dandelion in paint.
5. Make prints in a pattern on the pizza lines.
6. Send us a photo and tell us all the nature sounds you heard!
Don’t forget to tag us on social media using the hashtag #GSCBatHome