Lightning	All outdoor activities must be stopped, and all members must be in a lodge/unit house/pavilion/tent until 30 minutes after the last thunder/lightning strike. If groups are boating and away from the boat launch location, upon sight of lightning, facilitators will guide members to closest land location for immediate exit.
Sustained wind speeds or gusts of 40mph or above	All non-lodge sleeping units must be evacuated to emergency storm shelter. Trail hiking, team building, high ropes and waterfront activities must be stopped. Activities may continue that are not in/around woods or are in a lodge/unit house/pavilion.

4. Talk as a group to see what everyone is comfortable doing next.

Intruder Alert

Any guest must be accompanied by a member or on-site staff member. Any guest on-property who does not look like they should be there or is not accompanied by a member or staff member should be communicated with to confirm their needs or intentions.

If the intruder is approachable:

1. An adult should approach the person and ask “May I help you?”. It is very possible the person may not know they are on private property.
2. The person will then be escorted to an office or off the camp property.

2. Verify everyone is accounted for and keep everyone quiet.

Unwanted Animal

There are wild animals living on all camp properties in nature. Sometimes animals are in areas in to close of contact with members and visitors (i.e., a spider in a tent, a snake in a camp site, a racoon in the trash can) and need to be relocated away from occupied areas.

1. Guide Girl Scouts away from the animal.
2. Gently encourage a calm animal to move out of the area from a safe distance.
3. If the animal is not calm or able to be moved, contact someone else whom you know is nearby.
4. Exit the area slowly and safely to give the animal the space to safely leave.

At the conclusion of any emergency: Complete the GSCB Incident Report Form.

Fire Safety Procedures

Fireplaces:

Lighting Procedures:

1. Open the flue damper all the way.
2. Prepare a small fire base using dry sticks, kindling, or paper. Note: If the chimney is on an outside wall, the air inside the chimney will be cold. Cold air is heavy, so smoke has a hard time going through it. To reduce the chance of the fireplace smoking, carefully follow step 3.
3. This step must be performed by an adult! Take a sheet of newspaper and place it in the chimney above the damper opening. Light the paper. After it completely burns and goes up the chimney, the cold air is gone, and it is now okay to light your fire base.
4. When the fire base is burning well, start adding small dry logs to the fire one at a time.
5. Burn all wood completely to ash or leave partially burned log in fireplace.
6. The fire must always be attended to.

Things to Remember:

- Always have a bucket of water nearby before lighting the fire.
- Do not put large, whole logs on the fire. They are difficult to get started and take too long to burn.
- Do not use water to put out fires in a fireplace. Water on hot stoner or brick can cause it to crack.
- Wet wood will smoke. Do not try to start a fire with wet wood.
- If the temperature outside is above 60 degrees, do not attempt to light a fire. For a fireplace to work, it must be colder outside than inside the building.
- Leave cold ashes in fireplace for next group to remove. Do not put ashes and embers in the woods, woodpiles, or trash cans. Dispersing in the surrounding area will upset the soil balance. Cold ashes should be disposed of in trash.

Fire Circles:

Make sure fires are completely out before leaving the fire area. Before lighting any fire, ensure a bucket of water and a water pump are present at fireside. Camping fuel is limited to wood, charcoal, and propane. Liquid accelerants are not allowed however gas lighters are permitted. For detailed fire procedures, reference the Outdoor Skills Guide.

Note: Outside wood is not permitted on GSCB property. This includes, but is not limited to, bundles of wood, scrap wood, salvage, and pallets. There are wood piles on-site for usage.

Food Safety Procedures

Before handling food, it is important to prepare our hands for the job. Adhere to the best practice here on proper handwashing.

Storing Food

- Maintain
- Maintain freezer at 0°F.

Preparing/Cooking Food:

- Reheat leftovers to 165°F within 2 hours.
- Wash hands properly (see five steps to proper handwashing above) and use disposable gloves and clean, sanitized utensils to prevent contamination of ready-to-eat food from hands.

- Rinse thoroughly in clean hot water after washing to remove cleaners and abrasives.
- Sanitize in warm, 75°F water with sanitizer for one minute.

Dish Washing Procedures

When finished cooking and eating, it is time for the crucial task of dishwashing to ensure that your space is clean and will not attract animals. Cooking outdoors requires the use of the three-basin method to ensure dishes are appropriately cleaned.

- To make pots easy to clean, rub soap or shaving cream over the bottom and sides of the outside of the pot before it is placed over the fire.
- Beware: do not soap Dutch ovens
- Start heating dishwater on your fire soon after the fire is lit, so it will be ready when the meal is finished. In addition to saving time, you will be saving fuel.

- Soak dirty pots and utensils while eating.
- Scrape pots and dishes with a spatula or wipe out with a used napkin/paper towel before washing. This will help keep the water clean.
- Keep dishwater clear by washing least dirty items such as cups and silverware first and pots last. Dishwashing is easier if dishes aren't too dirty. Remember to scrape dishes first.
- Use a splatter screen/colander (not provided) at the kitchen drain (spit pit) for collection of food particles to discard in trash.

Washing and sterilizing (three bucket method)

Equipment needed:

- 3 heavy duty dish pans or deep buckets
- Sponge and scrub pads
- Soap
- Bleach
- Vinyl gloves (optional)

Steps for washing:

1. Using a napkin or rubber spatula, wipe or scrape plate and bowls well and pre-soak pots before washing.
2. Using first dish pan, wash dishes in hot sudsy water.
3. In second dish pan, rinse dishes in warm, clear water.
4. Put dishes and utensils in dunk bag.
5. In third dish pan mix cool water with a sterilizing solution (following directions on package).
6. Dunk bag by drawstrings in water with sterilizing solution to sterilize dishes. Hands should not go in this water.
7. Carefully shake excess water from dunk bag and hang on a drying line.

Note: Do not wash dishes at outdoor sink stations.

Specific inventories can be identified in Doubleknot for your camp destination. These units have cleaning products, brooms, and mops available. It is always recommended to bring trash bags, just in case!

The Program Center is furnished with an industrial or commercial kitchen. It contains refrigerators, ovens, a 3-basin sink, a proofer, microwave, and an assortment of utensils, pots, and pans for cooking meals. No certification is required to use these kitchens.

Adirondack

These are a type of rustic unit. An Adirondack is a three-sided, screened in bunk house. They are typically equipped with a shelf or hooks for hanging personal items. At any Adirondack site, you will have a screened in unit house with a stove, storage, tables, and benches. Fire circle supplies including a shovel or rake, and buckets for water and ashes may also be stored in the unit house if they are not near the fire circle. Some units have their own designated latrines and accompanying outdoor sinks. Those that do not will have wash houses nearby and will have a water pump for collecting a bucket of water for fires.

At this type of unit, you will pack everything that you will need for your weekend. Including trash bags, toilet paper, 3 basins for dishwashing, as well as food and personal items, including bedding.

Note: At Country Center, the Adirondack sites do not have screens.

Platform Tent

These are a type of rustic unit. Platform tents are canvas tents which are pitched overtop of a large wooden platform. Tents typically have bunk beds, sometimes cots, sleeping 2 to 4 people. Tents will either have ties or be Velcro. At any Platform Tent site, you will have a screened in unit house with a stove, storage, tables, and benches. Fire circle supplies including a shovel or rake, and buckets for water and ashes may also be stored in the unit house if they are not near the fire circle. Some units have their own designated latrines and accompanying outdoor sinks. Those that do not will have wash houses nearby and will have a water pump for collecting a bucket of water for fires.

Pavilion/Primitive

Hidden Meadow Pavilion is accessed by a wooden footbridge across the meadow. The pavilion is screened in and offers similar amenities to a unit house.
